Through you thoughts away Im trying to keep your faith Your desire for love and hate and bringing out your worst its almost over and im going to have to scream live your life your ways and see your reference to your death and me the contents of a broken box are as empty as your life help can you hear me im trying to get your ease to throw it all way and not falling to your death love is indeceived falling away from me you know its over rated when shes on the street and everything you have to give is falling to your death and she is on the street

help is in his heart

scream
