useless regrets useless regrets

got the demon in my veins, crawling blind and my my head's a wreck wear it like a badge (of honor) on our chest, but it's more like a noose wrapped around my neck the more I fight the tighter it gets cutting off my air and I can't breathe like the siren's song so innocent 'till you're it's victim and cannot leave (so we)

(chorus)
raise a glass to poor decisions broken hearts, and blurred vision this can't last forever everybody's got their own story but the ends all sound the same staring down an empty bottle looking for someone else to blame who's at fault? it doesn't matter, we'd still be stuck in this place looking for another distraction, another chance to waste (so we)

(chorus x 2)
