Im jumping ship just to walk another plank, theres a martyr at the helm and I think hes been drinking, dont worry im just sinking, what could you have possibly been thinking? Ill wrong my rights I just might, but I just cant go out tonight, so sit tight, ill be right there looking modest and unprepared, im getting dressed for my execution, its the sign of a revolution when im charged of a crime I didnt commit, theyve got me locked up for admitting defeat, so lets hope tonights the night my heart forgets how to beat, only you can save me now, but you overslept and im left for dead
