

Valerie Lemerrier

"So Obvious"

Visit "So Obvious" on MotoLyrics.com

Lock your door, I want you alone
I wanna talk about last night on the phone
And I think that its about time for you to come clean with me
I get this funny feeling that you're toying with me

And she's stringing me along
And she sings the same old song
She don't want to be alone
She don't want to be alone

I think that you and I were never meant to be
Point me to the nearest exit so we can make this history

And she's stringing me along
And she sings the same old song
She don't want to be alone
She don't want to be alone

All the things (all the things)
You said (that you said)
Have been running (have been running)
Through my head
And all the games that you play
Yeah

Save your adolescent games
For someone who will play

Who will play?

Visit Valerie Lemerrier page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.