It's not so pretty out here
These days I can't face the mirror
With endless nights I fear
I've lost my life at sea,
I bring my demons with me
On the road and in my bed
They keep me up on late night drives they live inside
my head,

I've seen sides of me that you should never see,
And there are days that I want to leave,

I swear I miss you,
More than anything,
But tonight I have these songs,
I have to sing,
I swear I miss you,
Traveling so far,
Through the night waking up not knowing where we are,

I am sleepless on this East coast, yet again
Driving through the ghost towns with the windows down,
Breathe them in as friends,

I've seen sides of me that you should never see,
And there are days that I want to leave,

I swear I miss you,
More than anything,
But tonight I have these songs,
I have to sing,
I swear I miss you,
Traveling so far,
Through the night waking up not knowing where we
are,

We've said it all without making a sound,
It's up to us to come around,
I've traded my security (my security)
Turned in my residence for mystery,

No one thinks I'm making any sense

I swear I miss you,
More than anything,
But tonight I have these songs,
I have to sing,
I swear I miss you,
I swear I miss you,
I swear I miss you,
More than anything,
But tonight I have these songs I have to sing
