watch your step, kid though i've love to see you fall it's the risk you took to 'see it all' i hope i never have to be anything like you chicago is the reason that you're feeling so blue cause this city wants you out so it will toss and turn at night to get you out of its bed sheets and out from underneath its lights

i hope your pedestal will rusk and break the romans had it right throw the liars and the fakes to the lions and the snakes
and get them out of my sight i'm sure you're doing just fine shipwrecked, spilling regrets to the coastline you hit the rocks and the water is rushing in you're going down and taking friendships with you

you better grad your heart and fake an attack cause that's the only way you're getting out of here alive

snakes
