Oh my baby, where have you been?
I hear you've been tossing and turning around again.
You keep taking those pills like they'll bring you sleep
But just keep choking on your tongue while you're chattering your teeth.

I hope you come around again.

We'll all fall in love again.
The waves will crash and the stars will cry
But darling, hold your head up high,
Soon we'll all fall in love again.

My sweet savior, my blood is running thin.
I crossed the line, I swear I won't next time, it's just where I've been.
You say I'm not alone but still it's kind of hard to believe
In the comfort of a god who says he'll come to me just like a thief.

We'll all fall in love again.
The waves will crash and the stars will cry
But darling, hold your head up high,
Soon we'll all fall in love again.
