

Van Risseghem

"The Motions"

Visit "The Motions" on MotoLyrics.com

The Motions

Just take a chance on me, I promise there's good you'll see

But you never ever look at my heart.

Come on let's dance, alright? Under the trees tonight

We can make it go right back to the start.

Oh stop wasting all your time trying to hide between the lines.

If you feel you've been going through the motions,

Take your hands and just let go;

I'll be the one who's there to catch you.

Follow this moment now and don't worry, I'll show you how.

When your bones are wearing thin

You will remember it feels like Heaven to begin again.

Everyone has scars, it doesn't matter who you are,

You've been chiseled into a priceless work of art.

And it was God who formed you so don't let hurt distort you.

You were made for a love with no intentions of giving up.

If you feel you've been going through the motions,

Take your hands and just let go;

I'll be the one who's there to catch you.

Follow this moment now and don't worry, I'll show you how.

When your bones are wearing thin

You will remember it feels like Heaven to begin again.

I don't want to waste another minute

Of this fragile life I'm living on bitterness.

Don't waste time thinking of past lovers

And don't give up because you'll find another in time.

Visit Van Risseghem page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

