You've tasted alot of pain, and you've cried a thousand tears
Not sure you can go on, livin' with your fears
Just want someone to hold u, to tell u it's allright
'Cause no one wants to be alone, in the still of the nite

So Damn Wrong
When they say that you can change it with a wink of an eye
Just So Damn Wrong
When they say just get a grip and start your life

Emptiness draining your soul
When it all comes down you're standing all alone
With no one to Share your pain

Emptiness draining your soul
When it all comes down you're standing all alone
With no one to Share your pain

Of all that puts you down, and you feel you had enough
Of all those stareing eyes, piercing trough your soul
Feelin' alone and your heart aches, tryin' to hide it well
All thats left of you is only, sucha cold and empty shell

So Damn Wrong
When they say that you can change it with a wink of an
eye
Just So Damn Wrong
When they say just get a grip and start your life

Emptiness draining your soul
When it all comes down you're standing all alone
With no one to Share your pain

Emptiness draining your soul
When it all comes down you're standing all alone
With no one to Share your pain

/Solo/

Emptiness draining your soul
When it all comes down you're standing all alone
With no one to Share your pain

Emptiness draining your soul
When it all comes down you're standing all alone
With no one to Share your pain
