

Varsity, The "Blood Cell Seal"

Visit "Blood Cell Seal" on MotoLyrics.com

When it all comes together, it just starts making sense to me. This room is about as empty as it gets, these walls are getting closer and closer. I'm all bubbly inside now. We saw each other in that crowd and you gave me those looks that could kill that night that I wrote that letter that's still, unbroken with a blood cell seal. Come on baby lets go. Jump in the front seat can you drive tonight it seems I'm all beat but you know that wont happen your touch under the covers your eyes I'm lost hairs stick up on the back of my neck and now I've got tunnel vision cuz this turnpike wont stop, it wont stop with the lights on the top of this hill. It's a perfect time in a perfect world the perfect nights with the perfect girl but I don't want to spend another night without you in my arms. I wished you were here with me, I swear the next time I see you I'm gonna tell you that I'll love you like no one else will. Tonight's the night turn out the candled light make me breathe again thank you for this life were gonna count the stars and maybe walk in the park tomorrow, then we'll make out for hours! No I don't want to spend another night lonely night without you in my arms.

Visit Varsity, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.