

Veda Skyes

"I Never Knew A Book Could Bleed"

Visit "I Never Knew A Book Could Bleed" on MotoLyrics.com

It always was so fucking hard to win with you
Every word that escaped my lips was the wrong one
In your mind at least

And I see, and I hear, and I feel what is real...
I'll die by the incandescence of your unholy heart

It's hard to be a smooth talker
When your constantly under a hail of fucking gunfire
Butterfly kisses won't fix it now

And I see, and I hear, and I feel what is real...
I'll die by the incandescence of your unholy heart

I hope that you choke on every word you say.
Intoxicated lips waited on that first kiss
I fell right into that trap
I always was a sucker
Breathe in then breathe out

Alone one last time
I'll stay inside, your heart and your mind
Six months at a time
I'll stay inside, your heart and your mind

I'll die by the incondescance of your unholy heart

Visit Veda Skyes page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.