Velvet Teen, The
"Your Last Words"

Visit "Your Last Words" on MotoLyrics.com

do you hear that that's your heartbeat
counting you down to your last words do you feel it crawl down your skin hands clutching your mouth to stop them from coming out at all but you don't, cause you can't cross yourself it can be all you have sometimes it's a spark, it's enough to pull you on your feet pumping your fits in the air i'll show them all what you are and this time, you won't get away cause i'm kicking your teeth to the curb you want it so take it, don't want to see you you're the star

giving it all for the bright lights think of all the money when you've everyone falling for your...
and if you don't mind
just leave me out of your dirty money you're just stalling living it up for a false start don't call me when you're broken-heated and everyone's turning on you

do you hear that
that's your heartbeat
counting you down to your last words when it all runs out, i'll be watching you clutching your head to stop the room from spinning round

but you don't, cause you can't cross yourself
it can be all you have sometimes
it's a spark, it's enough
to pull you on your feet
pumping your fits in the air
i'll show them all what you are

and this time, you won't get away
cause i'm kicking your teeth to the curb

you want it so take it, don't want to see you
you're the star
giving it all for the bright lights
think of all the money when you've everyone falling for
your...
and if you don't mind
just leave me out of your plastic party you're just stalling
living it up for a false start
don't call me when you're broken-heated and
everyone's turning on you

too late, we're on a road to nowhere else taking our time to pull you down and i'm tired of taking my chances i'm gonna let you
i'm gonna let you down do what you want to
i'm gonna let you
i'm gonna let you down