Hold your head up high,
You're never wrong
Somewhere in the right you belong,
You would rather fight than walk away
What a lonely way to breathe the air,
What an unlovely way to say you care,
Now we're too far gone for me to save
And I never thought that we'd come to this

Maybe there's beauty in goodbye
(No one's wrong or right,
You would rather fight, than you walk away)
There's just no reason left to try
(Now it's gone too far, look at where we are)
You push me away,
Another black day,
Let's count up the reasons to cry,
Look what you've missed, living like this,
Nobody wins (nobody wins)

Searching for the truth in your eyes
Found myself so lost don't recognize
The person now that you, you claim to be
Don't know when to stop, or where to start,
You're just so caught up in who you are,
Now you're far too high for me to see
I'd never thought that we'd come to this

Maybe there's beauty in goodbye
(No one's wrong or right,
You're about fly, then you walk away)
(Now it's gone too far, look at where we are)
You push me away,
Another black day,
Let's count up the reasons to cry,
Look what you've missed, living like this
Nobody wins (nobody wins)

You never say you're sorry,
Try to tell me that you love me

But don't - it's too late to take it there

Maybe there's beauty in goodbye
(No one's wrong or right,
You're about fly, then you walk away)
(Now it's gone too far, look at where we are)
You push me away,
Another black day,
Let's count up the reasons to cry,
Look what you've missed, living like this
Nobody wins

(Now it's gone too far, look at where we are)

Nobody wins
