

Verve Pipe, The "Acting As Your Slave"

My hand asleep for hours
Waiting for the needles to begin
I have no control
They proceed to penetrate my skin

Acting as your slave, I drink for amber waves
I never have embraced
Acting as your slave, I drink an open grave
An epitaph defaced

Killing with compassion
She hasn't heard a word that I have said
Swallowing your passion
I can see a thousand miles ahead

Acting as your slave, I drink for barricades
That I have often raised
Acting as your slave, I numb my head and rave
Of epitaphs defaced

Acting as your slave, I drink while she forgave
With trials left unfaced
Acting as your slave, I stumble to her grave
An epitaph defaced
