You can listen if you wish
To a small thing I have to say
You don't have to, if you don't want to
I am sure that you have
Other things to fill your day

I am just a guy who is getting older What could I have that you should hear?
just another little song just one more lyric sung

Yet my life has just begun
Every day an inspiration
For this thing I have discovered

You can forgive yourself
For no money and no status
But you will never forget
The dreams you no longer dream

Never stop dreaming your dream
Never let go of your passions is the dream that keeps you alive gives the strength to carry on have you ever felt a thrill

Something stirring from inside
That's so strong it pulls you along
A passion I think you'd call it
I am sure that you have

The needs of life just take it over Push it down for another day
Things more pressing and more important Like more money and more status

Yet my life has just begun
Every day an inspiration
For this thing I have discovered

You can forgive yourself
For no money and no status
But you will never forget
The dreams you no longer dream

Never stop dreaming your dream
Never let go of your passions
is the dream that keeps you alive
gives the strength to carry on
