I want to be your valentine
I want to spike your milk with wine
I want to make the others cry
With your fading shadow

I've got a stick of dynamite
Promise you'll stay awake tonight(x2)
When I load the barrel

You owe me another night
You owe me another night
You owe me another night
You owe me another night

Maybe when the doctor calls
A better girl will take the fall
And even though you've run so far
You always end up bruised and scorned
With me

You're desperate
I'm clean

You owe me another night
You owe me another night
You owe me another night
You owe me another night

A pony, a glass of wine
If only another night
She canters backwards for miles

I want to be your valentine
I want to spike your milk with wine
I want to make the others cry
With your fading shadow

You owe me another night
You owe me another night
You owe me another night
You owe me another night x2
