stop playing that same chord You're endlessly on that chord so many notes are on the fret board and yet you wonder why you're so bored Kid open your eyes and wake you used to rock yeah you used to make me cry every time you sang but now you're slipping away and my ears ring from the feedback and smoked out ruins that you live in come back to the band, my moon-calf friend You're falling on your fate and its kind of lame the way your lyrics were sold and the notes you sing, you know that they feel cold and yet you wonder why...you wonder why you're so bored

there's only so much we can take you've got to open your eyes and wake!!!
(chorus)

basically you're letting me down over and over again you've got to shout on your life...not too late living amongst your shallow grave I've been over-rated my haze.....
