Come along and take your hair down forget about your stress your ex isn't in your town we'll run around naked till we get caught then have security chase us around with me you'll get your kicks I promise you that can you tell me, when was the last time you really laughed?
I feel you need to escape
She said "stir me up, just a bit" well lets quit our jobs and then dye our hair green She said" Stir me up, just a bit." well lets count the stars and give each one a name Your life has been swirled around and parents got your confidence down leaving you to feel trapped in dismay come along and take your shoes off you're as powerful as you become and tonight's your night to prowls and scowl to forget

laughed?
She said" stir me up, just a bit." well lets slash our tires and drive around in the rain She said" Stir me up, just a bit." well lets drink till laughter drowns out our pain yeah lets romp around and brag about our fame yeah lets count the stars and give each one a name....
