The poets sang, tonight is all we have the jury hangs, questions remain unread the clock begins, spinning its wheels again markers are set, we're ready to go

So say that you aren't too tired
I fought so that your eyes stay on

Waitin', waitin' on your Sorrow
Waitin on your Sorrow to fade away

Beliefs are made, silently counting steps children are safe, blessed with the innocent the poet sang, tonight is all you hesitate you're sent through the hours punishment was never your fault

So say that you aren't too tired
I fought so that your eyes stay on

This day you won't tell Walkin' in through dark clouds

Waitin', waitin' on your Sorrow
Waitin on your Sorrow to fade away

Go Godspeed
You're runnin' fine
Welcome the spies
You're running fine Fine Fine, fine, fine, fine, fine

Say that you aren't too tired
I fought so that your eyes stay on
