"Will They Forget You"

was it enough to take control was it enough to sell your soul it was enough to tear us apart is it enough to take you down tear it up push it into the ground I gave it up before you took it away

Will they forget you
I think so could they let you I hope so sometimes it's harder than you know is it tough to be alone trip on yourself you're on your own it's too late to say you're wrong hiding down, down between the cracks gliding off the other people's backs it doesn't matter now I'm out I'm gone
