I've been lying awake seems like forever here I go again
I've been fighting a war with my conscience I've committed 7 deadly sins

No matter how hard I try won't find forgiveness never knew it could be so tough and it seems tough I want to be better that 7 sins are not enough

How can I even try to resist I was lost from the first time we kissed whenever I try I get so high this feeling inside gives me insomnia

Try to make up my mind think it over but it's a game I can't win

Poison runs through my veins and I know that I'm addicted to those deadly sins

Trying hard to forget all I've done wrong and come undone standing here on my own I'm so afraid of what I've become
I feel so alone
