She waltzes around the room
Spinning her thread without a loom

She'll sew a smile just for you
Her life is a masquerade
A different face a different day
She don't know my name

Oh no she's captivating me
She locked the door but I swallowed the key
Oh no she's got it out for me
Her eyes are wide and I can hardly breathe

She slips into my brain
With subtle speech and slender frame
She won't go away
She's a liar
I'm just a fool
She conspires too

Losing my mind
In too deep to draw the line
How could I be so blind
She kills me, fulfills me
Pull me up my hands are slipping
I can't believe I've fallen again
