Here it comes
All the problems that I create
All the horrible things I say
I know it
Just say it

Everything I do is belated
Now you know that I'm overrated
I don't see it but oh I believe it
I'm in this alone

Have some faith in me don't let go
Strike a match we'll light it up and I will guide us home
This I swear to you we'll make it through
No matter what I say to you, no matter what I do
We'll make it through

Tell me now
Can you even recall the place
And time of my last mistake
It seems my hesitation tests your patience
Everything I say is unrelated
Maybe you're just too complicated
Oh we know it and now it's time to show it
We can't do this alone

Girl I know that I can sometimes break your heart
And it kills me just to know that you are
That girl who met me and made me a better man
And now I have nothing to give you
