I need a place where people aren't the sins they make
I need someone to love me, I need a God with a face
I need to know what's next, what will I do now?
I need to love my life, someone tell me how

I need a brand new life, with no rain just sun
I need to learn how to love not just me but anyone
I need to know someones listening to the things that I say
I know I do wrong, that's why I need your grace

And I need to see that everything goes on
And I need to see that I'm not alone
And please tell us where do we belong
I know you'll never leave me, even when I'm gone

I need to know my future, need to make it right
Need to stop this mess, need to see some light
When your life goes wrong, and your heart still cries
Guess all I need is to see your eyes

And I need to see that everything goes on
And I need to see that I'm not alone
And please tell us where do we belong
I know you'll never leave me, even when I'm gone

I need a voice to sing out my needs
I need a sound like this to break things free
With all I've got right now, I don't need to be sad
'Cos I need no more that all the things I have
