Where did you go my dear?
Is it all the same?
For miles your margin clears
Are they to blame?
I am a vessel here
My thoughts to tame

No one comes close to who you are You're far away.

The weeks seemed to stretch for years what was gone in a kiss
I know what you're doing here, it's all I've known since
But reasons aside my dear, your heart I will miss

No one could ever take me now
No one could replace what I've found

In that moment I was fading away
In that moment things were starting to change
In that moment I needed to stay I'm losing all of mind to the days you're not sitting with me here
