Please stop now
failed to prove myself again please just let me in will not be your only friend, in time you hope we will in hope i trust this time will end my breaths are caving in i will not break just merely bend

Late night listening to sounds of waking up never knowing, growing young hope the best is yet to come

I can see you always there with me with those eyes and for every single breath you take another hope grows close then drifts away Can see you always there with me holding out on another wasted trip that brings me close to just nothing more meet me at the point when you've satisfied yourself another blame so close another cure to help me out i served you well inside but thats far below me now my hopes are yearning high so i cannot feel suprised

with those eyes and for every single breath you take
holding out on
close to just nothing more
