There is an endless ambition
Forever in the West
And of the same false intentions
You are just another guest

Can't you see beyond the silver screens?
The backward dreams, the scripted scenes?
There's no escaping from the fate that hides
Below our sight lines
But we have our own sunburst skies

You look to stars for their safety
The glimmer is an act
Their light is of no assurance
That they are still intact

Can't you see beyond the silver screens?
The backward dreams, the scripted scenes?
There's no escaping from the fate that hides
Below our sight lines
But we have our own sunburst skies

It's all that I have to be my amends

Can't you see beyond the silver screens?
The backward dreams, the scripted scenes?
There's no escaping from the fate that hides
Below our sight lines
You won't be blinded by an eastern rise
Can't you see beyond the silver screens?
The backward dreams, the scripted scenes?
There's no escaping from the fate that hides
Below our sight lines
But we have our own sunburst skies
