Little letters spread around To form bigger words Brother phrases follow Just to spread the heard While these little mischeif makers Go inside your head Don't know what to say or do So you just think instead

But its small But oh so big It just works harder on your brain Give it hell too far But that's just how you've been trained Try just once more To say

Little things get way to big for you to even think Bout this lie so small Your ears begin to ring Well, darlin' come and sit next to me for a little while and I'll cover your ears for you And hopefully make you smile And say "lovey don't go"

But its small But oh so big It just works harder on your brain Give it hell to far But that's just how you've been trained Try just once more To say

It's just a little big thing It's just a little little thing It's such a little big thing

Little Big thing, oh let it go Such a little big thing baby, ah let it go Such a little big thing baby
