Why can't you see
The things you want in me
Are they easy
Easy to be
As I open up
It's not enough
It's just not easy
Easy to be

And even though this road is winding
I feel like I am finding my way back to you

And all the world is a painted picture
With silver and golden stars
Knowing that we are forward facing
Forward facing
Knowing that we are forward facing

Why do I freeze
When you come for me
It's so easy
Easy to be
I lit the fuse and ran
I burned down who I am
And I rebuilt again

And even though this road is winding
I feel like I am finding my way back to you

And all the world is a painted picture
With silver and golden stars
Knowing that we are forward facing
Forward facing
Knowing that we are forward facing
Forward facing, forward facing
Knowing that we are forward facing

Countdown to a new hometown
Broken down, rearranged
Settled in my new skin
Proof that I have changed

We are now the same

And even though this road is winding
I feel like I am finding my way back to you

And all the world is a painted picture
With silver and golden stars
Knowing that we are forward facing
Forward facing
Knowing that we are forward facing
Forward facing, forward facing
Knowing that we are forward facing

Forward facing
