Don't put your fame on me dry panning from a crooked creek deliver us from your defeat

So bronze, bronze, bronze
So bronze, bronze, bronze

Don't misspell my engrave a name I weigh from wooden slaves we trespass on an angel's face

So bronze, bronze, bronze
So bronze, bronze, bronze

Don't sell my favourite eye a stranger makes a perfect spy still living someone else's lie

So bronze, bronze, bronze
So bronze, bronze, bronze
