

Wreckers, The "My, Oh My"

Visit "My, Oh My" on MotoLyrics.com

This concrete road used to just be dirt
We'd drive out here after work
Every Friday night when I was eighteen

This parking lot used to be a field
I parked here with my Oldsmobile
Long before the Sonic and the Walgreens

Not no more
Not no more

My, oh my
Look how the time flies
Look how the world changes
In the blink of an eye
My, oh my
Look how the years have flown
Turning around before you know it up and gone
Oh my, oh my, oh my

Times have changed and so have I
I once was young and starry-eyed
Now I have these bittersweet memories

Songs were long and gas was cheap
No cellphones and the water was free
Daddy paid and I never had to worry

Not no more
Not no more

My, oh my
Look how the time flies
Look how the world changes
In the blink of an eye
My, oh my
Look how the years have flown
Turning around before you know it up and gone
Oh my, oh my, oh my
Oh my, oh my, my my my

Not no more
Not no more
Not no more

My, oh my
Look how the time flies
Look how the world changes
In the blink of an eye
My, oh my
Look how the years have flown
Turning around before you know it up and gone
Oh my, oh my, oh my
Oh my, oh my, oh my
Oh my, oh my, oh my
