Theres more than distance that Ive gone
To reach this unfamiliar place
Id like to think this is the answer
This redirection in our lives
Has come from empty promises
If only we could capture the moment
We raise our hands up towards the sky
And point to the heavens
Were hoping the stars will be aligned
Were hoping that time is on our side
Were hoping that we will survive
The battle that lies ahead
Could ruin our lives
Now Ive seen the burning gates in hell
And I swear the devil showed me how
To see the evil in your eyes
With trust and faith in who we are
Well keep on reaching for the stars
Our heads are still above the water
Something tells me weve found our home
Something tells me were not alone
Well fight for a reason to never give in
Well pick up the pieces of everything
Weve lost along the way
Lets fix the problem by joining hands
And becoming something so much bigger than
We were before we found the answer
Which came to us just in time
I will show you just how far this can go
Trust in me, this is not the end.
