"Requiem"

Your world is made up of poison and failure
My world is made from the glory of victory
You tried to get inside my head
With every hateful word you said
You thought that you could break me down
But you're out muscled
And this house we built is made for men
Now I said it before and I'll say it again
You're just a boy who never learned
When to shut your mouth
Something inside of me
Tells me I should have known
You'd be the one to let the pressure
Change who you are
You're such a victim of every choice you've made
Pointing fingers at your friends
I never thought that you could be
The one who'd turn your back on me
And do the kind of things you did
And every word that you said
I hope you know, they didn't mean that much to me
I'll just pretend that you're dead
Someone I used to know
I'll never let you get to me
Something inside of me
Tells me I should have known
You'd be the one to let the tension
Tear us apart
Yeah there's no question you will swallow your pride
Making truth out of your lies
Create that prison where you sit
And think about the things you did
To turn this friendship upside down
And every word that you said, I hope you know, they didn't mean that much to me
I'll just pretend that you're dead
Someone I used to know
I'll never let you get to me
If you don't see that you've started
This all on your own
Then you need to think again

I hope youre happy
Cause this is the outcome
For being selfish
Now you are alone
You know you could never get inside my head
With that said, I hope I never see your face again.
