Does the light still burn
Do the trees still whisper
By the winding path on the forest floor

Do the birds still sing
Of the old ways of magic
How I long to hear your voice once more

Could the ??
Once again reach for me
From the open door to the world of man

Could I just once more
Spend a moment beside you
I would die to see your face again

[Chorus]
You were the light
Shining brightly through the shadows
Through winter's blast
The spell you cast changed everything
You made the coldest night feel warm
You tame the wildest storm
And everything you touched
Turned to Spring

Will we meet again
In another lifetime
The very thought makes my spirit soar

Will you call my name
With your voice of thunder
I would die to feel your strength once more

You were the light
Shining brightly through the shadows
Through winter's blast
The spell you cast changed everything
You made the coldest night feel warm
You tame the wildest storm

Everything you touched
Everything you touched
Turned to Spring
