My buddy called me up on Sunday
Said, hey man I ain't talked to you in awhile
Oh my, how things have changed I met a girl
And oh how she makes me smile
So I went out and I bought her a ring
We're getting married this November, what do you think

Good luck with that, let me know how it works out I'll be thinking about you when I'm watching the game on Sunday
With a beer between my legs and wings on my lap Good luck with that, hey way to think that through Now your bathroom for one can be shared by two But hey, some people think marriage is where it's at
So good luck with that

Forty five minutes later got a call from my boss Saying you're going to have to come to work today
Yeah, I know it's your first day off in over three months
But we're going to need you anyway
You ever have one of those little moments in time When what's going on in your head is probably best kept inside

Good luck with that, remember I was up for a raise
You sent me a basket of fruits and dates
And a bottle of sparkling grape to wash it down the hatch
So good luck with that
Now that I think it through, I should never be working for a jerk like you
You take this job and shove it up your, you know what Good luck with that
Good luck with that

I can't even walk out my front door Without my neighbor going on and on about his new energy efficient car

Good luck with that, I think I'll stick to my truck

That way I can pull you out when you get stuck In your driveway in a snow bank or an itty little bit of mud
Good luck with that
You know I did the math and all that money that you save in gas
You spent on a part shipped halfway across the map, plastic crap
Good luck with that
Good luck with that
Good luck with that
