Now, is the moment
To tell you what I feel
I was afraid to open up my heart for you
You're still the one I care for
I never doubt my love for you
But there's something that's burning deep inside of me

In time you will know what I mean
What is right, for you and me

Let me be who I am
That is all I need
I promise you we'll be much stronger
Let me be who I am
That is all I need
And I all ask
Let me be who I am

I left these words on a note beside your bed
And I hope, you keep them deep within
Your heart
Be or without me, you have to find a place
Where you can clean your thoughts and think it over

I hope we will both find our way
That home somehow

Let me be who I am
That is all I need
I promise you we'll be much stronger
Let me be who I am
That is all I need
And I all ask
Let me be who I am

I know you'll find a place somewhere
And somehow I will find you
Here I am, standing by myself
Wondering if you

Let me be who I am

That is all I need
I promise you we'll be much stronger
Let me be who I am
That is all I need
And I all ask
Let me be who I am
