Zeigeist, The
"Fight With Shattered Mirrors"

You never told me about the bell and ball
We built the three-house and forgot what it was
It left me feeling numb

And all the stories that you painted for me
Blue crayon dreams that no one ever would see
They vanished in the wind

And you would put it away
The glass
Away, to stay

Won't you strip, I cant, oh breath your, today stay
Reflections were untold
Of your lip, I can't, oh breath, to you, lay say
Reflections were untold and to say

Reflections were untold
The magpie stole our gold

Won't you strip, I cant, oh breath your, today stay
Reflections were untold
Of your lip, I can't, oh breath, to you, lay say
Reflections were untold and to say

Reflections were untold
Blue crayon dreams that no one ever would see

Death for us won't make me stay
Death won't make me, to stay, it's you
And all the playmates you were keeping from me
Ripped out the pages in your third diary
A hidden dream won't fly

And you would put it away
The glass
Away to stay

Wont you strip, I cant, oh breath your, today stay
Reflections were untold
Of your lip, I can't, oh breath, to you, lay say

Reflections were untold and to say

Reflections were untold
The magpie stole our gold

Wont you strip, I cant, oh breath your, today stay
Reflections were untold
Of your lip, I can't, oh breath, to you, lay say
Reflections were untold and to say

Reflections were untold
Blue crayon dreams that no one ever would see
Death for us wont make me stay
Death wont make me to say, to stay, to lay, it's you

(Wrapped up for - to hold on) (Death for us wont make me stay death wont make meâ€¦)

You teached me how to practice hide and seek
I told you secrets that we promised to keep
But it was not enough

The toy box then tried to reveal its truth
Did not hold anything but spottened youth
My hate-machine could cry