You held his head in your hands
And looked at me with your cold eyes
"This is the place where it ends"
And talked me into break ice

I lost all things that I loved
One million things I still love

Cold water taste like metal
Knives will get under your skin
Light shimmers in your white cloth
One of two sisters must win

One day you'll hear what I say
Run from me day by each day

Small push and then he was gone
Under a layer of cold skin
"This is the way that it's done"
The fear was shown in your grin

I lost all things that I loved
One million things I still love

But I will turn the clock back today
The lake is deep and dark
There's a way
To (let you) follow his sunken heart

I took the boy that you loved
All of the things I still love
One of us sisters were shy
Last girl you see when you die

The boy that I love
The things that I still love
