;Cos it's alright, to go out at night and forget who you are
Alright, then its' up in the mornin' and back to the start

Hello conscience, how do you do?
I've come a long way to talk with you
You've been causing chaos for much too long
And these mixed up emotions are much too strong
I hear you've got a problem with the way i am
But loneliness never seems to understand
Every time i hear the fizzing on my cup
I hold my head high and say good luck

Cos it's alright, to go out at night and forget who you
are
Alright, then its' up in the mornin' and back to the start t's alright, to go out at night and forget who you are
Alright, then its' up in the mornin' and back to the start

Hello sunshine, how are things goin'?
You come up every day but i'm nerver showin'
I guess me and you, we don't get along
With nothing in common, nothin's wrong
I spend a lot of time with the big white moon
Down in the cellar I'll be drinking soon
I can't help sleeping through the sunny day
Tired in bed but that's OK

Cos it's alright, to go out at night and forget who you
are
Alright, then its' up in the mornin' and back to the start
It's alright, to go out at night and forget who you are
Alright, then its' up in the mornin' and back to the start

Got a couple of friends that are dying to meet you They're going to be in town for a little while
So if you come after me they're going to steal your sight so can't see
So relax and sit back instead?

It's alright...

(repeat til end)
