

Carla's Dreams

"My Girl"

Visit "My Girl" on MotoLyrics.com

Too many times, too many days
Dreaming of you, making foolish plans,
Thinking about how it could be
If there was us but it's still you and me,

And I could drown in your eyes if u just looked at me,
And I could show you things that you will never see
I may seem selfish but I have a reason why
I promised to myself to tell you this so many times and I still try

If you were my girl i would show you my world
I would make you believe in "You're the air that I'm breathing"
But you ain't my girl, when you left my world
You've broken my heart and I'm falling, and I'm falling apart

All I can see are dreams about you
The only way for me to be with you
And if tonight you'll feel alone - just pick the phone

And I could drown in your eyes if u just looked at me
And I could show you things that you will never see
I may seem selfish but I have a reason why
I promised to myself to tell you this so many times and I still try

If you were my girl I would show you my world
I would make you believe in "You're the air that I'm breathing"
But you ain't my girl, when you left my world
You've broken my heart and I'm falling, and I'm falling apart

And I could drown in your eyes if u just looked at me
And I could show you things that you will never see.
I may seem selfish but I have a reason why,
I promised myself to tell you this so many times and I still try x 2.

