As I lie here awake watching the world turn the dawn begins to burn that place, that time, that space where the truth becomes clear, unmasked by the rules of the day and the lies of the night

It's easy now to see that this is nothing more than a game to you And I want you to know that I've played with men and women, few as good as you And I'm only sorry it took so long to get to you

Cuz if this is nothing more than a game to you this is the last throw of the dice for me I've got 27 years up my sleeve and love's already got the best of me

The boys I've loved,
the mistakes I've made,
the prices I've paid
And I'm not sorry and I would probably do it all again if I could cuz it brought me to you

But if this is nothing more than a game to you
this is the last throw of the dice for me
I've got 27 years up my sleeve
and love's already got the best of me

The boys I've loved,
The mistakes I've made,
The prices I've paid...

Still if this is nothing more than a game to you
this is the last throw of the dice for me
I've got 27 years up my sleeve

and love's already got the best of me
