Like the leaves in the fall
I've been drifting without hope
I just can't awaken from the spell
Like the waves on the shore
I've been crashing into rocks
And I can't seem to understand where it all began

Living on a hope now
Praying for a miracle
I've come too far to turn back
Thoughts that have me spiraling
Keep coming back
It seems unreal
It feels so cold

The road ahead is winding
Lights are fading, the dark is shining
It's calling out
Take me in, take me forever
I've been waiting for you too long
I'm calling out

Like the leaves in the fall
I've been drifting without hope
I just can't awaken from the spell
Like the waves on the shore
I've been crashing into rocks
And I can't seem to understand where it all began

Calling out, I'm calling out
I'm calling out, I'm calling out
I'm calling out, I'm calling out
Calling out, I'm calling out
