The goodness of God
is an anchor that holds
My hope and my song
and the boast of my tounge

He'll never change,
He's never shaken
Yes His name is a sure foundation
Yes His name is a sure foundation

In the morning
I lift up my eyes
To the author of the stars,
The one who holds my heart

To God upon his throne
He rules and reigns today
And my soul dwels secure,
For a steadfast lover remains

The goodness of God
is an anchor that holds
My hope and my song
and the boast of my tounge

He'll never change,
He's never shaken
Yes His name is a sure foundation
Yes His name is a sure foundation

And when the night has come
My lips won't cease to praise
Though I see dimly now
I know that dawn awaits

For God is on his throne
He rules and reigns today
And my soul dwels secure,
For a steadfast lover remains

The goodness of God

My hope and my song
and the boast of my tounge

He'll never change,
He's never shaken
Yes His name is a sure foundation
Yes His name is a sure foundation

May the rest in my soul
Be an offering before the living God
May my joy and my hope
Testify that He is alive

May the rest in my soul
Be an offering before the living God
May my joy and my hope

The goodness of God
My hope and my song

He'll never change,
He's never shaken

The goodness of God
My hope and my song

He'll never change,
He's never shaken
Yes His name is a sure foundation
Yes His name is a sure foundation
Yes His name is a sure foundation
Yes His name is a sure foundation
