The slightest of whispers, they change your mind
A breath of wind makes you shudder, and look for the answers you can't find

Let those thoughts out now,
Let them plant the seeds they were meant to plough

Don't go, yes I said,
Don't go, you'll fall alone
Cause you, you don't know
Cause you, you don't know what life's got in store

Truth and lies, they create a blinding light
The way to go, you don't know, cause it's not in sight

A cluster of thoughts fills your mind,
The steps you take could be wrong or right
Don't go, yes I said,
Don't go, you'll fall alone
Cause you, you don't know,
Whether it'll be a yes, a maybe or a no?

The rain will come, it may take the sun
The rain will come, it may bring the sun
The rain will come, it will take take the sun
The rain may come, and bring the sun

Don't go, yes I said,
Don't go, you'll fall alone
Cause you, you don't know
Cause you, you don't know what life's got in store --- x 4
