I'm gonna tell you what's inside my soul.
We are as fragile
just like melting snow We'll get to come to see the beauty of love and imagine and imagine, just imagine

And we're like butterflies flying to the sun
The sun will never let us look inside
I believe that this will open up
but at the right time

Hopefully just wait for it, it will come and even if the whole world was around and you deny the miracles possible but you have got to see anyway and imagine
and imagine, just imagine

The sun will never let us look inside
but at the right time
Hopefully just wait for it, it will come

The sun will never let us look inside
but at the right time
Hopefully just wait for it, and oh, secrets will come, come out
