When what I'm building for tomorrow comes crashing down
Today
And what I put my effort into falls apart anyway
When the seed I planted dies and my roots have washed Away
And I've got nothing to say when there's nothing left for Me
And everything is in my way will I be broken like a chain
With a weak link will I speak out and let the people what I wanna be

But I'm trying real hard cause I wanna believe
And I can't help it if you don't wanna understand So I'll play it by ear and do the best I can When everything that I've been taught has been proven Wrong
And the debts that I've acquired have gone unpaid for way Too long
When I cause painful division because of my stupid pride
When the love I give to someone gets taken for granted
And brushed aside...
