"Crack The Code"

I want the words
something you haven't heard
will I find them and will I have what it takes to say them in the world beside this one there are no lies and no suspicion
only dreams without end

You gotta feel what I mean
Look into my eyes and know
I'm trying to come clean
But I stumble every time
And then the words they escape
fail to take shape
It's all in the code now (come again)

Feel what I mean
Look into my eyes and know
I'm trying to come clean
fail to take shape
It's all in the code now

Will you let me retract let me take it back Sometimes my words lack and my mind flies off the track
What I'm trying to convey is miles from what I say
And you slip away

In life there are times when nothing will rhyme there are days I slip when I know I should climb breakin' the vows I swore I'd never break a harsh word a white lie easy to mistake where have you been haven't you noticed there's no map that exists to point us out of this my heart was the target

it found your arrow baby you know I want to be your straight and narrow

I been trying to transmit a feeling I been hoping you receive what I'm revealing See the main thing is hang with me and relate
As we communicate watch out Fenced in like a dog between houses

Balled up by the trouble my mouth gets Wrapped up in the things that I don't know don't you know
Hoping that you crack the code oh

The first to crack the code
(You may not think I'm ready to have your love again)
oh oh
(You may not think I'm ready)
You are the first to crack my code

You gotta gotta feel what I mean

Didn't I know I'm wrong wrong wrong when you knew You didn't have to give me so long long long to see through
Not predictable what I will do but you know Cause you cracked the code

Your body is a country that you know I'll return to craving like a family heirloom that I am into no baby how could I follow everything you do just remember when we touch
I feel so renewed

The first to understand me that would be you
It can't work if we can't be open and true

The best thing to happen to me let it be told That would be the moment that you cracked my code
oh oh

The first to crack the code
oh oh
(You may not think I'm ready)
