Houston we have a problem all this TV has made us dumb anxious is what we've become too much prozac in our systems it's our mental condition
one thing lacks is education institutions fuck with our

Emotions are elastic
they stretch out and back stretch out and back
sometimes they just snap
they don't go back
they never go back

What if it were true
that you weren't so blue
and you felt like you
could just do anything
but we're facing the sunset and for a moment it looks like it's rising
and we are on the other side of things

There's no procrastination maybe I should do it get to it straight
I see people wasting time with so much pointless debate
I can't wait for the over analytical politically correct Upset by threats to the national mindset

I bet we'd let reverse psychology mob mentality over our ecology
A college we could learn but we usually we burn and then we waste it Taste it time and time again it's time to take your medicine
Emotions are elastic
