These are the years I was warned about, these are the days of dominoes and searching souls
This is the path that Im on right now and Im in a hole, Im in a hole
These are the tears Ive been holding back, the fears that grip me like a glove And you my better half, these are the times that I need your love

Baby please, hold your head up when Ive fallen to my knees Baby please, hold your heart out and be strong when Im weak
And if I fold, dont let me go, dont let me go

Funny how the time winds blow, to think when I was younger
All I wanted was to be old and now all I want is to pull it together
And if I never make the grade will you love me just that same
Will you still feel that spark, trust me with your heart

I was just thinking about when I started out and every twist and turn of the road
It may take a minor miracle but one thing I know, everyone grows

So, baby please, hold your head up when I buckle at the knees
And if Im cold, dont let me go, dont let me go
