

Satinoxide

"Longing"

Visit "Longing" on MotoLyrics.com

And there you stood in Dionysus's™ Parthenon
Your looks warmed me, as the wine flowed on
Longing for a diversion on a sultry spring evening

The dance of love veiled by...the light of the moon
My sorrow is aching and I know now...grief will start soon!

If only it could be eternal!
All I have left now is my pain, which is infernal
Longing!

Floating on a breeze through the white night
We watched a delightful world of pleasure and delight
Longing for a diversion on a sultry spring evening

The twisting of your virginal white peaks
The soft velvety skin on your cold cheeks
Scents of perfume floating from your long hair

Your longing glance surrounded by sheer blue light
A long kiss and you disappeared into the night
All I have left now is a memory, a longing vision of a dying dream
Of a fucking dying dream....it's my dream

All I have left now is a memory
A longing vision of a dying dream
Longing!

Visit Satinoxide page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.